World Heritage UK technical workshop on 29th April at Blenheim Palace - cancelled

With regret, our technical meeting 'Restoration of World Heritage - repairs and how to fund them', has been cancelled. Refunds on tickets will commence immediately.

We would like to particularly thank all our speakers and everyone who had signed up to be part of discussions on the day, as well as our hosts at Blenheim Palace.

We apologise for any inconvenience caused as a result of this measure and thank you for your understanding. It is becoming clear that disruption caused by the virus outbreak is likely to last months rather than weeks. When the dust does settle, please do try to support our future events and the local institutions which keep our World Heritage Sites operating as many of them will take a severe financial hit from this downturn.

Good wishes and good health to all.
